Organization description
All Our Kin invests in early childhood educators (represented mostly by women of color) who are dedicated to the well-being of children in their communities, taking an innovative approach to solving the crisis in childcare and early learning that results from an acute lack of quality, affordable care for infants and toddlers across the nation. All Our Kin provides the training, resources, and support that these women need to become early childhood professionals and create enriching childcare programs in home-based settings. Through our programs, family childcare providers succeed as business owners; working parents find stable, high-quality care for their children, and children gain an educational foundation that lays the groundwork for achievement in school and beyond. We serve a network of over 400 family childcare professionals who ensure that more than 2,400 young children are safe, loved, and learning.
