Common Ground is a center for learning and leadership, inviting people across ages and identities to connect to their urban environment, build community, grow into their full potential, and contribute to a just and sustainable world. Common Ground connects farm, forest, and city through our High School, Urban Farm, and Environmental Education Center. Our campus includes production and education gardens, farm animals, and creative play spaces for children. Located at the base of West Rock Ridge, we have direct access to forests with hiking trails, wildlife, and diverse natural habitats. We serve the greater New Haven community, and have a deep commitment to making our site, programs, and practices inclusive of and accessible to all people. Summer camp serves children ages 4 - 14 from New Haven and surrounding communities, including substantial financial aid support to include children from low-income households.

Write a 1-2 sentence summary of the work that the Fellow would be conducting (500 characters or less).

Join us at our farm and nature camp for children ages 4 – 14! Fellows work as leaders and mentors, caring for campers as we cook, play, hike, garden, build forts, make nature art, care for animals, play games, enjoy campfires, and make summer memories. Possible roles include Assistant Teacher, working closely with one age group and staff team all summer, or Camp Floater, supporting all ages with a special focus on social/emotional needs and inclusion.

Write a more complete description of the specific project you propose and list the duties/outcomes expected of the Fellow.

Common Ground's summer camp provides a diverse group of children with a fun, safe summer experience, emphasizing building friendships and developing an appreciation for the natural world. Campers experience nature as an exciting place to explore, and discover how people, food, and the environment are interconnected.

We welcome an energetic community of about 250 children and 60 staff each week. Making camp financially accessible to low income families is essential to our mission. We provide over $30,000 in scholarships each summer for campers, and we work hard to get the word out to underserved New Haven neighborhoods and schools.

Campers participate in both structured and unstructured activities on the farm and in the forest. Depending on interests and skills, a Fellow might work with their staff team to engage children in farm animal care, take campers on a nature hike, lead a group in cooking a snack from the garden, be creative with recycled or natural materials, lead games that foster friendship and cooperation, explore the stream and catch crawdads, or coach a child on how to hold a chicken! Daily work involves being an integral part of this community, teaching, playing, mentoring, getting dirty, eating strawberries, rounding up chickens, bandaging knees, and making memories.

Fellows typically work in a support and assistant teacher role, so having significant experience with caring for and teaching children is not an essential skill – Fellows work in partnership with our experienced team of professional Environmental Educators!

One outcome we aim for in camp is for positive experiences with outdoor learning and play to lead to children thinking of themselves as nature lovers who care about environmental sustainability and who understand how nature connection can support their own physical and mental health. Over the years we have seen program participants make college and career choices around science and environmental sustainability that they say were influenced by their time as campers. We have seen campers ask their family to garden or compost at home based on their experiences at camp, and campers who bring their families to West Rock to enjoy family time on the trails. Our Yale Fellows help create these outcomes as they join us in mentoring and leading children in positive experiences in nature!

The duties of the Fellow are to participate fully as part of the staff team, serving an amazing group of children who we seek to engage in meaningful, safe, fun learning and play in nature.

List any specific skills/experience required for the project

Enthusiasm for working with children and supporting individual and group needs.

Interest in helping children engage with the natural world.

Willingness and ability to work outdoors in all weather, including summer rain and heat and to be physically active for most of an 8 hour day.

Social and emotional capacity to work in a role that requires patience, flexibility when plans or schedules change unexpectedly, sustained engagement with children, and strong communication skills.

Additional requirements

All staff, volunteers, and Fellows complete the background check administered by the Office of Early Childhood, as required by CT Youth Camp Licensing. Our campus is accessible by car, bike, and city bus and a car or travel during the work day are NOT required.

Briefly describe any work that Yale PPSF Fellows and/or Yale students have done with your organization.

Common Ground and the New Haven Ecology Project have been fortunate to host Yale Fellows for over a decade, and our site and our students have greatly benefited from their contributions. Yale PPSF participants have worked in many placements at Common Ground, including Camp, the Urban Farm, on the Development Team, and leading youth development and job readiness programs. Fellows have helped us design new publicity materials for our market stand, hosted Saturday Open Farm Day, developed environmental and food justice curricula, and worked as tutors for Common Ground High School.
